The screenshot shows a resource page for 'American Bittern'. On the left, there is a 'Filter by:' section with links for Subject, Format, Source, Lexile, Grade Level, and Language. The main content area features a small image of a bird, the title 'American Bittern', an audio icon, and the source 'birdweb.org'. Below this is a paragraph of text: 'The Seattle Audubon Society can help you to find an American Bittern in the State of Washington. In addition to a summary of this bird's physical description, habitat, behavior, migration patterns and diet, there is a Washington State range map that highlights both the year-round and breeding locations. They believe that you are more likely to hear this bird than see them, so listen to the sound byte that will help you to identify the American Bittern.' Below the text are metadata fields: 'Languages: English', 'Lexile: 1080', 'Subjects: Bitterns', and 'Grade Level: 6-8, 9-12'. At the bottom of the page, a blue button labeled 'Cite this Website' with a checkmark icon is circled in red. A red arrow points from the 'Cite this Website' button in the bottom-left text box to this button.

It is possible to quick cite from this database as well.
